

Kibana User Training

Kibana is a visualization tool that was developed as part of the Elastic Stack. It enables the analysis, visualization and exploration of data stored in Elasticsearch.

In this hands-on Kibana training, you will gain a thorough understanding of the role, functionality and deployment scenarios of Kibana. You will learn how data can be connected, pre-processed, enriched and stored. Sample data is explored using various filters and search queries. We create different visualizations and combine them in a dashboard. We will also show you how Kibana is integrated into modern enterprise environments and used in conjunction with Elasticsearch and other Elastic Stack components.

This Kibana course also offers an insight into typical deployment scenarios, best practices for use and a preview of advanced topics such as machine learning, observability and security.
